

Saffron Slam

Code of Conduct

This Code of Conduct document applies to all attendees of our events and details the behaviours we expect everyone to adhere to whilst at the Saffron Slam.

Why do we have a Code of Conduct?

This Code of Conduct is here to help make sure everyone who attends one of our events knows exactly what is expected of them and feels welcomed, safe, and respected. We expect all who take part in one of our events to display appropriate behaviours at all times, including online.

This document should be read in conjunction with the more gaming-specific Player's Social Contract kindly produced by Karma Tabletop. This can be found at the following link:

The Code of Conduct

By purchasing a ticket to one of our events, you agree to adhere to the following principals, and will take responsibility for your own behaviour during the event.

You will:

- be welcoming, supportive and kind to others
- be respectful of those around you
- be open, honest, and clear with your dice, rules, and measurements during your games
- report any breaches of this code to the event organisers/volunteers
- have fun!

You will not:

- behave in a way that could be considered intimidating or threatening
- be abusive towards or bully other people
- let others behaviour which breaches this Code of Conduct go unreported

What happens if I do not follow the Code of Conduct?

Minor and first-time incident:

- One of our team will politely remind you of the Code of Conduct and ask you to change your behaviour.
- Gaming infractions may result in you receiving a 'yellow card' which could include a points/win deduction and may affect your ability to purchase tickets to future Saffron Slam events, and/or events which recognise cards issued at the Saffron Slam.

Serious or second-time incidents:

- You will be asked to leave the event.
- Gaming infractions may result in your receiving a 'red card' which will include immediate disqualification from the event and will affect your ability to purchase tickets to future Saffron Slam events, and/or events which recognise cards issued at the Saffron Slam.
